Agilent's Patrick Kaltenbach Joins ALDA Board

Alexandria, VA (May 5, 2015) — Patrick Kaltenbach, Senior Vice President of Agilent and President of the Life Sciences and Applied Markets Group (LSAG), one of Agilent's three major business groups, has joined the ALDA Board of Directors.

Mr. Kaltenbach is responsible for the strategic direction and day-to-day management of the LSAG group, which includes the majority of Agilent's instrumentation and software for analytical and life science laboratories. Mr. Kaltenbach was previously vice president and general manager of the Life Sciences Products and Solutions organization, within Agilent's former Life Sciences, Diagnostics and Genomics Group, where he had responsibility for the direction and development of all Agilent life science products and solutions. Prior to that, he was vice president and GM of the Liquid Phase Division.

Mr. Kaltenbach joined Agilent's predecessor, Hewlett-Packard Company, in 1991 as an R&D engineer in the Capillary Electrophoresis business. Over the years, he has held various roles in R&D management and senior management.

Mr. Kaltenbach succeeds Mike McMullen, recently named President & CEO of Agilent Technologies, as the company's representative on the ALDA Board of Directors.
